

Prophetic Words - Pentecost Vigil Mass 2018

Prayerfully discern what the Lord is saying to you through these words.

I saw two hands emptying a container which had water in it and fresh water was being poured into it. "Water. Fresh water. I am pouring out what was and replacing it with fresh."

I want to give you a zeal for My lost sheep and an anointing so you will know how to find them and reach them. Will you accept My zeal like a fire in your heart? If you say yes, I will break the strongholds of apathy and indifference and pour out a fresh anointing on you.

For I create you to be My presence. Be a light for My people in Ann Arbor, in Ypsilanti and in all the areas in which I have placed you. I wish to send to you My children, My broken ones, those blinded by darkness, those bound in chains, those in need of My healing grace. Welcome them into your midst. For it is there that I wish to heal them, to free them, to fill their emptiness and embrace their loneliness, to comfort them in their afflictions, to restore them to the fullness of life. Do not be afraid, My beloved ones, for I am in your midst. I will not desert you or abandon you. I will continue to pour out My Spirit upon you to empower you for My work. Abide in Me and you will never be without My grace, for I am faithful to all who call upon My Name.

Listen...listen...I am calling your name in love. My power is greater than any other power. There is nothing that can keep My love from you. Persevere in My Name. I am preparing your hearts. I am preparing the fields. Trust in My provision for you. Trust in My love for you; for I could never forsake or abandon you. All that I have is yours. My Holy Spirit is upon you. Will you trust Me?

...And especially to My young I say, let not your hearts be troubled by the world around you; for you are called to be in the world but not of it. This world is not your home. I am calling you to be the light in the darkness. I am calling you to bring My hope to the nations. Many will be your trials, but you shall not be overcome. You will walk in peace, and joy will be your battle cry; for I am equipping you with My power. Wisdom will be your guide; you must seek it. Humility shall be your clothing; you must choose to take it up. Love will be the leaven in your bread; nothing will prosper without it. Those who have gone before you and those who have brought you to this point, who still stand with you today, will be your firm foundation. You have been called. I call you by name. My Holy Spirit is upon you. Will you answer?

The rocks have been calling out praises to Me for a long time. Now, you, My people, will call out praises to Me for I am with you and anointing you with My Spirit. I anoint you with a surrendering heart to freely come to Me. I anoint you so the hurt you have endured is healed and no longer holds you from Me. Freedom is in your hearts to set you on the path to be more bold in My Spirit. I call you to come and let Me pour out My Love in you so you may give it away to those around you. I anoint you with My Love.

Brothers and sisters - I am calling you to be a Pentecost people!! I want to free you from a spirit of timidity and a spirit of self-consciousness. I want to set you free! I want to give you a spirit of boldness...to speak about Me to all you meet. Open your hearts to Me! Open your minds to Me! Open your ears to hear My voice! I want you to be a Pentecost people! Come and follow Me! I love you! over→

Words of Knowledge

These words of knowledge (supernatural knowledge of facts or about what the Lord is doing) were given as well. Both received confirmation from people who received healing through them.

The Lord wants to heal generational wounds.

My child, you have separated yourself from Me deep in your heart. Because of another who hurt you, you have chosen to separate from Me. Come close to Me and trust in Me, and be separate no more from Me, My child.
